

YARDMEN'S STRIKE
CAUSES EMBARGO ON ALL FREIGHT HERE

Stoppage of Transportation
to Effect Fuel and Food Supplies, With Express
Embargo Also in Force.

INSURGENTS SAY
10,000 ARE OUT

60 Officials of Terminal Reported Switching in Effort
to Keep Passenger Trains Moving.

An embargo on all freight, inbound and outbound, was announced today by St. Louis railroads, because of the walkout of several thousand switchmen and yard employees,
on both sides of the river, which began at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon,
and which was called by the St.
Louis District Yardmen's Association,
an insurgent organization, in defiance of the rulings of the railroad
brotherhoods, of which the switchmen
are also members.

The freight embargo, which means
the stoppage of all rail transportation
except passenger service, including that of fuel and many kinds of food, follows the express embargo announced yesterday morning
in anticipation of the walkout.

The walkout, which the men term
"resigning," was ordered by the Yardmen's Association after an unfavorable reply was made by the railroad management to the organization's demand for wage increases of 66 to 100 per cent. The officials of the organization say no
attempt will be made to interfere with those who may take the "resigning."

10,000 Men Reported Out.

J. S. Eubank, president of the Yardmen's Association, said that 10-000 men were out.

General Manager Burlingame of the Terminal Association estimated
the number of switchmen and affiliated workers who were out this morning as 3000 to 4000. He said the Terminal's locomotive employees and firemen had not joined in the walkout. Yardmen's Association officials say the switch engineers and firemen of most of the 24 lines affected by the strike have gone out. Whether the engineers and firemen go out or not, they cannot work without the switchmen,
on the effect in many cases is the same.

"The embargo on freight and express is absolute," Burlingame said.
"None of any description is being handled. We are simply trying to keep passenger trains
moving, and, so far, have been fairly successful. How long we can keep it up depends on the endurance of
the officials who are doing the switching."

Volunteers Switch Trains.

All incoming and outgoing passenger trains at Union Station this morning were handled by the volunteer switchmen, mostly officials and employees of the Terminal Association. They worked in 13 crews, one man to three men each. Twenty crews are usually on duty in the morning, in the station yards. Some of the incoming trains were nearly
on time; others were late from outside causes. Outgoing trains were handled so that they left within five
to 15 minutes of their schedule time.
Up to 11 a. m., 56 incoming and outgoing trains had been handled.

A. S. Johnson, assistant general manager of the Terminal, was in charge, in place of General Manager Burlingame, who was switch foreman last night, and who had 70 men,
some of them high-salaried members
of the staff, swinging lanterns.

At the Yardmen's Association
headquarters, 2030 Olive street, many applicants for membership from affiliated occupations, who were rendered idle by the strike, joined the organization this morning. J. S.
Eubank, president, said the organization had already grown beyond his expectations, and he predicted that it would attain a membership of 20-000 in the St. Louis terminal district.
Some of the crafts now represented
in the membership are clerks of various kinds, maintenance of way
men, repair and shop men.

Eubank said the Yardmen's Association would not be governed by any action that the railroad brother-hoods might take. He said that, as the men were keeping away from the company's property, he could see no opening for an injunction suit. If there should be such a proceeding
in court, he remarked, it "might fill
the jails, but wouldn't move the freight."

BROTHERHOODS
WANT MORE TIME TO BREAK STRIKE

Request Made to Railways at Chicago, Where Switch-
men Are Reported Beginning to Go to Work.

UNION LEADERS
CONTINUE HOPEFUL

Kansas City, Toledo, Detroit
and a Number of Other Important Points Still Are Seriously Affected.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, April 9.—The five great railroad unions, in a joint letter addressed to the Western Association of Railways, this afternoon, asked for more time in which to break the unauthorized strike of some of their members, and solicited the co-operation of the railroads toward that end.
The letter bore the signatures of S.
E. Heberling, president of the switchmen's union; E. C. Corrigan, assistant grand chief of the Brotherhood
of Locomotive Engineers; S. N. Berry, senior vice president of the Order
of Railway Conductors; A. F. Whitney, vice president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen; and A.
Phillips, vice president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

"We appreciate," the letter says,
"that owing to present economic conditions, over which we have no
control, and the fact that the situation has been grossly misrepresented by irresponsible persons, who have assumed a dictatorship of an unorganized body of men, it will be difficult for us to entirely relieve the situation until we have had further opportunity to meet and talk with our members, and we believe the railroads understand this as fully as ourselves, and that they will cooperate with us to that end."

The railroad managers today denied persistent reports that they were contemplating recognizing the insurgent unions or that they would employ the railroad strike breakers.
The managers' association promised the brotherhood officials several days ago that the unions would be given an opportunity to break the strike with their own men who have remained loyal. The managers, it was announced today, are satisfied
with the progress made.

Improvement at Chicago.

Switchmen who have been on strike here for nine days
beginning to return to work this morning. Brotherhood officials, who have been fighting the "illegal"
walkout of their men, do not claim that the strike is broken, but are much encouraged by reports from several roads that the men, in small groups, are returning for work.

The Chicago Junction Railway, the Belt Line connecting the stock yards
and the packing plants with the trunk lines, was one of the first to report. Eleven engine crews were at work this morning, the report
said, as compared to three yesterday.

While the switching and freight situation show improvement, the congestion in the yards has become so great that seven of the eight railroads entering the Dearborn Street Station were unable to run passenger trains downtown. They discharged passengers at suburban stations.

JOHN T. DAVIS, FINED,
NOT CONVINCED HE
VIOLATED AUTO LAW

Former Member of Council, Arrested for Passing Car, Lectured in Police Court.

John T. Davis of 47 Portland place couldn't be convinced yesterday that he had violated the traffic law by driving his automobile past a street car, on the left side, and he argued successfully with the traffic policeman, the District Captain and the Judge. He lost each argument, and today paid $25 and costs, but departed still unconvinced.

Davis was once a member of the City Council and he felt he had some knowledge of city ordinances, having helped to pass some of them. He tired of following a car west on Locust street yesterday and passed it,
on the left side. The policeman at Seventh street stopped him. Davis,
according to the story the policeman
told later, was rather emphatic in his statements that he knew the ordinances and the policeman didn't.
The latter finally decided to send Davis nearer to the seat of authority,
and he accordingly sent him to police headquarters. There Davis insisted to the Captain that he had been unjustly treated, and the Captain decided to pass it along to the Judge. In court today, Davis still argued that it wasn't the law, so Provisional Judge Matthews fined him $25 and costs, and gave him a lecture of the duty of citizens to set
an example by obeying the laws.

Hotel, Delmar boulevard and King's highway, died this morning in the Missouri Baptist Sanitarium, from injuries received Monday when an automobile knocked her down at King's Highway and Washington
boulevard. The cause of her death was concussion of the brain.

It was said at the hospital that Mrs. South had not had medical treatment until she was received
there this morning, and it was the understanding of the hospital authorities that she was a member of an organization which does not believe in the use of medicine.

John R. Veiper, 22 years old, of 2815 Geyer avenue, was the driver of the automobile which struck Mrs.
South. A police order for his arrest
was issued after her death.

$30,000 in Vault.

Six robbers, all wearing caps and dark overcoats and carrying revolvers, held up the Lowell Bank, Warne and West Florissant avenues,
at 9:15 a. m. today, and stole $11-877 with which they escaped in a stolen automobile after being scared
away when a young woman employee of the bank pushed a button which sounded a siren burglar alarm outside the building.

The bank is a two-story building at the southeast corner of Warne and West Florissant avenues. Many avenue in at this point, and the three streets form a sort of public square in the center of which there is a fountain. The entrance to the bank is at the corner of the building, the door being at an angle to the intersection of Warne and West Florissant avenues. There is a great deal of automobile and wagon traffic on both streets.

Inside the bank the employees'
enclosure is walled off from the customers' room by partitions and cages extending along both sides
and about 10 feet from the outer walls.

Near the corner of the partition on the West Florissant avenue side is a door leading into the banking room. This is usually kept locked and can be opened only from the inside by pressing an electric button.

Four robbers entered the bank
and two remained outside, one in the automobile and one on the sidewalk. The four who entered forced seven bank employees and four customers into the siren vault and were forcing L. L. Will, assistant cashier,
to open the vault when Miss Emilie Bruning, 4567 Adelaide avenue, a bookkeeper, pressed a button which sounded the siren, a contrivance on the outside of the building which made a noise like a very loud automobile horn.

The robbers then abandoned the attempt to get into the vault and fled with money which they had taken from two tellers' cages and put in sacks. In the last few weeks several outlying banks have been equipped with these sirens as protection against robbers and burglars.

The first robber who entered the bank arrived just as Will, the assistant cashier, was letting out a customer who had been to a safety
deposit vault inside the banking room. As the door was opened the robber, with revolver in hand,
rushed through the outer door, slid
across the floor, pushed the emerging customer aside and went through the electrically-controlled inner door before it could swing
shut.

Ring Taken From Official.

Flourishing his revolver, he shouted: "Hands up, everybody!"
Noticing a diamond ring on Will's
finger, he grabbed it with his hand
and started to pull off the ring.

"Don't break my finger," said Will.
The robber removed the ring roughly, scratching the skin on Will's
thumb in doing it.

A second robber, carrying a revolver, quickly followed the first. He did not try the door but climbed over a partition into the cage of Hugh W. Kile, a teller, and started raking money off the counter into a sack which he took from under his overcoat.

Two other robbers with revolvers, entered. The man who had come in first ordered one

U. S. AGREES WITH BRITISH STAND ON CROSSING OF RHINE

Disapproves of French Occupation of German Cities, but Has Faith in France's Sincerity.

ACTION CREDITED TO INFLUENCE OF FOCH
Wallace, After French Inquiry, Expressed American View; Allies Expected to Find Early Solution.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.
A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Great Britain's outspoken disapproval of the advance into German territory of the French army is warmly applauded at the Department of State. It is expected that the British statement may make it a little easier for France to retire gracefully from the position she has taken.

America is interested and to some extent an associate onlooker. The whole thing is really outside the province of the United States, inasmuch as she is neither a member of the league of nations nor a party to the peace treaty itself.

But it has been customary since the close of the war to reward America for the part she played in winning the conflict by considering her within the European sphere of interest, especially because of the interest in moral and financial considerations.

So the associated Powers have consulted the United States. France herself has asked the United States informally for an expression of views. This carries with it a little continental irony, for America, as well as the other Powers, have been confronted by France with an accomplished fact in the invasion of France, and expressed no protest.

The American Ambassador at Paris is not a party to the situation except possibly to bring about the withdrawal of French troops.

Ambassador Wallace at Paris is a party to the situation. He is at the heart of European affairs, being the American representative at informal sessions of the supreme council, has had a conversation with Premier Millerand, and explained at length the reasons which actuated France in moving into German territory.

The American Ambassador has been instructed to express in return most informally, but forcefully, that the United States does not believe that the reasons which actuated France in moving into German territory.

MAYOR CRITICISES PASTOR, AT HEARING, FOR STATEMENT CONCERNING KOCH HOSPITAL

Kiel Tells The Rev. Mr. Lever He Should Have Made Charges to Officials, Instead of Through Press.

During a meeting of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment today, Mayor Kiel criticized the Rev. J. H. Lever, Episcopal city missionary, who recently denounced the food conditions at Koch Hospital and other city institutions were intolerable.

Other members of the Central Council of Social Agencies had accompanied the minister to ask for increased food appropriations for the city institutions, and one of these, Miss Carol Bates, announced that she would stand by the Rev. Mr. Lever. At 11 o'clock Mayor Kiel told the delegation that he had made an arrangement in his office for that hour, but would adjourn the hearing to that place, and invited all present to attend. With the exception of the Rev. Mr. Lever, all of the members of the delegation did so, and the hearing then was continued in the Mayor's office.

The Rev. Mr. Lever had said to the board that he had ample knowledge of conditions in the institutions, having visited them for seven years. He added that during the recent influenza outbreak, his wife had to go to the Isolation Hospital, being unable to get into any other hospital.

"The food there was abominable," he said. "If I hadn't taken food to her daily she would have had a bad time of it."

Says Sugar Is Insufficient.
"How do you expect to feed people for 32 cents a day?" he demanded, and added: "That is what the appropriation at the sanitarium amounts to. The figures I have show that, in many institutions the patients are getting just one-third as much sugar as they require."

Mayor Kiel's face had grown flushed, and he was obviously angry. "The members of this board have as much feeling for those patients as you have—perhaps more," said the Mayor to the Rev. Lever. "You would have given your complaint, including conditions in the institutions, didn't you?"

The minister said he certainly did. "If you had come to see us, instead of going to the newspapers, we would have given your complaint every consideration," resumed the Mayor. "Your idea was not constructive, or you wouldn't have gone to the newspapers. Your idea was to throw mud at the administration."

The Rev. Lever replied that this was not a fact. He said that he had talked to Director of Public Welfare, and explained to him the conditions which he gave them publicity. Hospital Commissioner Shutt said several days ago that the Rev. Lever made such a complaint to him more than a year ago.

"Well, you didn't see me," said the Mayor. "Nor you didn't see me," Comptroller Nolte joined in.

Said: "I am sure that I ever heard any complaint about the food at the institutions," President Aloe of the Board of Aldermen, joined in.

Miss Bates, when the meeting began, said she had serious charges to make against some of the employees to open the door leading into the banking room and four customers who had been inside. They and the seven employees were forced to stand against a wall on the east side of the room.

One of the robbers said: "Now let's get the money." The robber who had first entered forced the employees and customers to go into the large vault at the south end of the room. The outer door was open, but the door to the inner money safe was locked.

Will, was ordered by the robbers to open the money safe. He replied that he did not know the combination. "Open it up or I'll kill you," said the robber. The robber who had first entered forced the employees and customers to go into the large vault at the south end of the room.

TEACHER ASSAULTS MISS ERNST AT MEETING OF BOARD

Miss Rachelle Linton Says New Assistant Superintendent of Schools Will Antagonize Instructors.

Miss Rachelle Linton, a teacher in the Shepard School, told members of the Board of Education yesterday afternoon, at the first meeting where teachers have been permitted to express their opinions on salary and other conditions, that the announced selection of Miss Lillie Ernst as Assistant Superintendent of Schools was "the most unpopular that could be made."

"That is the last nail in the coffin," she said. "If you gentlemen had determined to antagonize the grade school teachers of the city, you could have chosen no better way."

Miss Linton, a teacher in the Shepard School, told members of the Board of Education yesterday afternoon, at the first meeting where teachers have been permitted to express their opinions on salary and other conditions, that the announced selection of Miss Lillie Ernst as Assistant Superintendent of Schools was "the most unpopular that could be made."

Advocates Food Inspectors.
Mrs. George Dobler, chairman of the food committee of the League of Women Voters, declared that the appropriation of $9800 asked by the Health Department for four tenement and four food inspectors should be kept in the budget, that we were 19,000 places in the city where food is handled, and that she knew from visits to some of them that the food supply should be safeguarded.

Miss Bates stated that screening was needed at the city hospital and that a concrete floor should be laid in a basement room at the infirmary where inmates gather. She said that only a dirt floor existed and that the ventilation is poor. She declared that the city had no bread and coffee at the city jail was insufficient and that the amount expended for food for guards at the workhouse was several times the amount expended for prisoners.

Discussed at Teachers' Meetings.
The subject of the salary schedule of some of the members of the board as to whether she spoke solely her own opinion or that of the grade school teachers, to which she replied: "I am speaking for the grade school teachers, and while I am not told to make this statement as their spokesman, I am telling you their viewpoint."

The statement from Miss Linton, who with Mrs. Rose Hesse, president of the Grade Teachers' Association, acted as spokesman for the grade school teachers, followed an attack by her upon the salary schedule of teachers' certificates and the method followed in promoting them. She contended that favoritism was shown by many principals.

While the meeting originally was called to discuss the salary schedule, it was stated by President McDonald of the Board of Education that other grievances of the teachers would be given a hearing. This called forth considerable comment on the system of ranking teachers, one of whom spoke for the teachers saying: "One of the chief causes of unrest is the ranking system. Personal likes and dislikes of the principals enter into the promotion of teachers. Only 70 can ever become head assistants, and only one-fourth of the remainder ever can become first assistants. That is rather detrimental to the hopes and ambitions of the teaching staff."

Board Will Do Its Best.
President McDonald stated that the board was confronted by the problem of doing a great deal with a minimum supply of funds. "I want the teachers to understand that we are going to do all we can for them," he said.

Miss Hesse told the board that the grade teachers felt they could not live on less than the amount they had asked for in their schedules.

Miss Linton cited the following cities as paying average salaries considerably in excess of those paid here: New York, Cincinnati, San Francisco, Milwaukee, Boston, St. Louis, Kansas City, and Washington.

Theodore D. Kelsey, president of the High School Teachers' Association, said that a critical situation was at hand, that the schools were losing some of their most valuable workers and would lose more if salaries were not made commensurate with those of Dayton, O., inventor of America's first airplane, met today at Fountain City, near Richmond, Ind., and were guests of honor at a dinner party given at the home of the Rev. pals were receiving the lowest salaries, proportionately paid. This brought forth some caustic replies from several grade school teachers.

Miss M. E. Baker, a teacher in the Horace Mann School, declared: "There is general unfairness on the part of the principals. We have 38 text books for 150 pupils. Patrons come to me and ask why, after they have paid the school tax as others have, their children should not have books."

Miss Tillie Geeks, representing the supervisors, spoke in behalf of the primary departments, urging that salaries paid teachers there should be equal to those in other departments. She told of the great expense teachers were forced to incur in entertaining visiting teachers.

William Butler, principal of Yeatman High School; Frank L. Williams, principal of Sumner (negro) High School, and several others also spoke, urging increased salaries and improved working conditions for the teachers.

Following the hearing of the teachers' claims, the board held an executive session and it was announced that no definite action would be taken until the next regular meeting of the Board of Education.

Judge Assesses Maximum Penalty Declaring Long Police Record Warranted No Leniency.

Ernest Miller, 28 years old, of 1414 Warren street, also known as "Bergadine," which he was indicted by Judge Farris in the United States District Court to serve two years in the Leavenworth penitentiary and to pay $500 fine for conspiring to defraud a case, silk in interstate shipment from the Columbia Transfer Co. warehouse, Broadway and Carr street, Sept. 16 last. WALSH PREDICTS REPUTATION OF TREATY POLICY

Says Democratic Convention Will Declare Against President's "Unmodified Ratification" Attitude.

United States Senator David I. Walsh of Massachusetts, a Democrat, said to reporters and others who gathered around him at the close of an address at the City Club at noon today on the peace treaty and the league covenant, that he believed the Democratic national convention would repudiate the stand of President Wilson for unmodified ratification of the peace treaty.

"If it does not," he said, "the Democratic party faces a catastrophe in the coming presidential election. I declared that the Democrats who have been widely mentioned as possible candidates for President, Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, leader of the administration forces in the Senate, is the only one who would consent to run on a platform of ratification of the treaty as it stands."

Senator Walsh himself is a supporter of the Lodge reservation program.

"Treaty Fatally Defective."
Senator Walsh, who has been in the Senate less than two years, and who is a former Governor of Massachusetts, is of dignified and impressive bearing. During his speech he said:

"I went to the Senate in sympathy with the President. When he brought home this treaty from Paris, I began to study it with a view of defending it against its critics. I found that the critics were right, and that the treaty is fatally defective in its present form."

"It is a harsh thing to say, but the fact is that there is not a foot of soil or a single natural resource in the possession of a helpless people that our allies did not seize in this treaty. One of the allies alone annexed to its dominions one-fourth of the inhabited area of the world."

"I refused to go any further with the President, because I cannot support the principles and ideals which he, himself, proclaimed."

"Wherever there is rebellion against oppression in the world today, it is because of the hopes which the President aroused with his inspiring utterances. Wherever helpless peoples struggle for liberty, they have been inspired by the promises which the President made to them, and which he could not keep."

Refers to Shantung Agreement.
The Senator referred to the Shantung agreement as an example of the injustice of the treaty, saying: "The name Shantung is to every Chinese a name of horror. It is the name of a province which was taken from China by Japan. When China—our ally—came to the peace conference, her first request was that she be given back her richest and most historic province. The Japanese stood there and demanded as the price of their signature, the domination and control of this province, containing more than 30,000,000 Chinese, and they got it."

"Some people say that we should go into the league and endeavor, by our influence, to correct these injustices. I say to you that our influence never has been greater than it was at Versailles, and it never will be again. If it was not sufficient then to prevent the Shantung trade and to bring about the kind of a league covenant that the President wanted, how will it be equal to those tasks in the future?"

"If such a covenant had been meant sending to the executioner's block every leader in the American Revolution," the Senator continued.

"If my Government cannot exist except by the protection of foreign armies and navies, then it is time for my Government to be changed."

Believes America Wants a League.
He said it might be argued that some Republicans in the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate wanted to hamper the President from partisan motives. "But granting that, it still is true that they didn't propose to abandon the league covenant entirely," he said. "The overwhelming sentiment of America was for a league of some kind. It looked like political suicide for any Senator who fought it. Yet after months of study and deliberation, seven members of the Foreign Relations Committee came out with the statement that the treaty was utterly impossible."

"There are men in the Senate today—honest, earnest and courageous men—who firmly believe that if we go into this thing, it is the beginning of the end of the United States. Even though I may differ with them in this opinion, I can love and respect them for their determination to go down to political death rather than surrender their judgment."

Refers to Criticism of Senate.
Referring to the criticism of the Senate for failure to ratify the treaty and restore peace, the Senator said that it was the power and the duty of the Senate to review the treaty, and he concluded by saying that the Senate to exercise this duty, then for God's sake abolish the Senate and place the power solely in the executive's hands."

William Marion Ready, who introduced the speaker, said that "Massachusetts is fortunate in having two Senators whose minds do not go along with single track which is operated by another mind, and who, therefore, cannot be fired for that direction." The obvious reference was to President Wilson's statement at the time of the resignation of Secretary of State Lansing.

10 KILLED, 183 WOUNDED IN EASTER CLASH IN JERUSALEM
Further Disturbances Occurred Tuesday, but Situation Now Is Well in Hand.

LONDON, April 9.—It is reported that 10 civilians were killed and 180 wounded and that three British officers were wounded in the disturbances in Jerusalem April 4, between the Jews, Moslems and Arabs, says a dispatch to the London Times from Cairo, dated April 7.

The dispatch says the exact cause of the trouble has not yet been ascertained. Other disturbances occurred April 6, when the town was fought with British troops. Early in the morning of April 6 Arabs tried to enter the Damascus gate, but were fired on. During further disturbances houses were burned. The British added that a more detailed information the situation is well in hand.

DEFEATED FOR OFFICE SECOND TIME BY TOSS OF COIN
Candidate Who Tied Opponent Loses on Flip as He Did Four Years Before.

GRAND RAPIDS, Wis., April 9.—For the second time John Ostruski has been defeated for a seat in the City Council by the toss of a coin. Ostruski and Grant Babcock, candidates for councilman, drew a tie vote in Tuesday's election, so it was agreed to flip a coin to decide the honors. The ceremony took place in the City hall. As a matter of fact, the coin was tossed by a member of the Ostruski family. "What will you take Mr. Babcock?"

"I'll take heads," replied Babcock. "Then I'll take what's left," said Ostruski.

The coin was flipped and Babcock won the seat. This was the second time Ostruski has been defeated by the coin. Four years ago he tied with Mike Lemons for the seat and the toss of the coin went against him.

JACKSON DEMOCRATS TO FIGHT FOR REED

Will Disobey State Committee and Hold County Convention, Senator's Partner Says.

J. G. L. Harvey of Kansas City, law partner of Senator Reed, at the Planters Hotel today, announced that the Democratic organization of Kansas City and Jackson County would refuse to obey the instructions of the Democratic State Committee, substituting ward conventions in Kansas City for the usual county convention, and that a county convention would be held for the purpose of endorsing Reed as delegate at large to the national convention.

Harvey's announcement is accepted as settling the question of whether Reed intends to make a fight for delegate at large, and politicians believe forecasts a bitter fight at the State convention in Joplin.

"Every county in the State except Jackson County was permitted to have a county convention," Harvey said. "Notwithstanding the action of the State Committee, we are going to have a county convention. It will be held next Wednesday."

"It will elect delegates to the State convention, and in my opinion, will instruct them for Senator Reed for delegate at large. If the State convention wants to throw out the Jackson County delegates which will be chosen just as every other county chooses its delegates, I suppose it will have the power, but I don't think it will do it."

"The State Committee, for the purpose of preventing a solid Reed delegation from Jackson County, decided that the delegates should be elected by wards in Kansas City. It being expected that some wards would be against Reed, or at least that the county outside of Kansas City would be against him."

HOWAT AND THREE AIDS SENTENCED TO JAIL FOR CONTEMPT

Kansas Miners' Leaders Ordered Locked Up Until They Testify in Industrial Relations Court Inquiry.

By the Associated Press.

GIRARD, Kan., April 9.—Alexander Howat and the three other miners' union officials sentenced to jail today for contempt of court were put in jail here this afternoon.

By the Associated Press.

PITTSBURG, Kan., April 9.—Alexander Howat, president of the Kansas coal miners, was sentenced to jail for contempt of court by Judge Andrew J. Curran of the Crawford County District Court this morning.

The judge sentenced Howat and three associate union officials to the county jail until such time as they will testify before the Kansas Court of Industrial Relations.

Under the order of Judge Curran, Howat and the other officials will be taken to the county jail at Girard immediately.

Four mines of the district were idle this morning on account of the Howat hearing. It was announced at the headquarters of the operators. Howat was found guilty of contempt for refusing to obey an order of Judge Curran issued Tuesday that he appear with four other officers of the United Mine Workers of America in the investigation of the coal mining industry now being conducted by the Kansas Court of Industrial Relations here.

In addition to Howat, Judge Curran also found August Dorchy, vice president; Thomas Harvey, secretary-treasurer, and Robert Foster, district auditor, guilty, and gave them the same sentence he gave Howat.

Howat shortly after he reached his office made the statement: "Our position is unchanged. We stand where we stood. We refuse to testify before this court because we do not recognize the court. It is an institution founded to enslave the workingman."

Counsel for the miners in an amended answer filed this morning made numerous attacks on the Kansas Industrial Court law, alleging that it violated not only the Kansas bill of rights and Constitution, but that it violated the Federal Constitution.

VOTE EXPECTED TODAY ON PEACE RESOLUTION

Debate to End Late in Afternoon and Little Doubt of Adoption Is Expressed.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—The House locked horns with the peace resolution today, prepared to complete action and send the proposal to the Senate before the session ended. More than half of the members on either side who wished to express their views were heard yesterday, and under the special rule debate will end at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Little doubt of the adoption of the resolution was expressed. Some Democratic support aided in adoption of the rigid rule yesterday under which the fight was waged.

and only one Republican failed to follow the lead of the majority. It was expected additional Democratic votes would be found among the "ayes" when the resolution reached a vote.

NOTHING WRONG EXCEPT "RUN DOWN"

Heart All Right—Lungs All Right
But Blood Weak

NO ENERGY OR ENTHUSIASM

That's When You Need Pepto-
Mangan—The Red Blood Builder

When you feel weak and almost sick, see a doctor and find out what is wrong.

It may be a serious illness. But in many cases the doctor finds nothing
really wrong except a general rundown condition due to the need of stronger, richer blood.

For over thirty years physicians have recommended Gude's Pepto-Mangan to restore weakened blood to its normal healthy state.

Pepto-Mangan imparts to the blood
the elements it needs to build up vigorous men and women. Children whose blood is impoverished become listless and pale and fail to romp.
Pepto-Mangan creates a supply of nourishing red blood that makes the cheeks glow, the eyes sparkle and brings back the energy for play or studies.

Pepto-Mangan is obtainable in liquid
or tablet form, whichever proves most convenient. Both forms possess identical medicinal qualities.

There is but one genuine Pepto-Mangan and that is "Gude's." Ask your druggist for "Gude's" and look for the name "Gude's" on the package. If it is not there, it is not Pepto-Mangan.

CARELESS SHAMPOO- ING SPOILS THE HAIR

Soap should be used very carefully,
if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali.
This dries the scalp, makes the hair
brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse
the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub
it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine
and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified coconut oil shampoo at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply
every member of the family for months.

LOWDEN URGES WOMEN TO JOIN POLITICAL PARTIES

Republican Presidential Aspirant Closes Day of Conferences Here With Speech at Dinner.

NATIONAL BUDGET SYSTEM SUGGESTED

Candidate Would Supplant League of Nations With International Court Along
Hague Conference Lines.

Gov. Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, speaking last night at a dinner of the St. Louis Republican Women's City Committee at Hotel Statler, urged particularly upon women voters in Missouri that they affiliate
actively with political organizations
and participate in the active politics of the organizations. He was supported in his views by Mrs. Fletcher Dobyns of Chicago, chairman of the Lowden women's campaign in Illinois, and John Schmoll, chairman of the Republican City Committee.

Aside from political organization,
Lowden covered only two subjects in his speech. He advocated a budget system for national expenditures and
a judicial tribunal to replace the proposed league of nations, repeating speeches he had previously delivered and arguments he has presented in widely published newspaper and magazine articles.

Lowden's speech followed a day
of conferences with Republican politicians of St. Louis and Missouri, during which he talked with 17 delegates from Missouri to the Republican national convention. All of the 24 delegates so far selected are believed to be for Lowden. All had been invited to St. Louis to confer with him, but several failed to come.

Schmoll's endorsement General.
Schmoll avoided a direct endorsement of Lowden over other candidates for President, though the St.
Louis organization of which Schmoll
is the head, has participated in the campaign to elect Lowden delegates.
Schmoll gave a blanket endorsement
of all candidates, and concluded
with the statement that no mistake
would be made if Lowden were elected President.

He insisted, however, that it made little difference who the individual
might be who obtained the Republican nomination.

"It is not so much who the man
is who is the next President," Schmoll said, "as that he shall be a loyal Republican."

Lowden complimented the St.
Louis women on their organization
and their co-operation with the men's organization.

"Political organization is the very condition of orderly government,"
he said. "Without it the old ship
of state drifts, first in one direction and then in another. The men have discovered this and are organizing more and more. If the women will rise to their full opportunities they will become part of some political organization."

"There are some who believe that one takes on a new dignity and new superiority by being better
political party. We have recently learned that while an individual may be better and bigger than his party, he is so little suited to this earth that his excellence is not of the slightest use to mankind."

"I dislike to hear women say they do not know whether they will belong to a political party. I cannot be accused of being overly fond of the Democratic party, but I would rather see you affiliated with the Democratic party than to attach yourselves to that vague,
angelic figure floating off yonder
somewhere in the sky."

Urges All Party Membership.
He then discussed the two forms
of women's organizations, the one independent of the men and the one affiliated with the men. He declared in favor of the latter, saying
the same problems confronted the women that confronted the men.

Explaining that he would not attempt to give a speech to cover all the national problems which Government faces, he said he did not believe any one man in the party had all the wisdom in the party, and that the candidates should permit the national convention to have something to say about the party platform.

He reached a discussion of extravagance in Government and the need for a reduction in expenditures
through an explanation of the gradual trend of Government away from the ideas the framers of the Constitution had. He said the three branches, executive, legislative and judicial, must be maintained.

He said that it was the intention of the Constitution that the Treasury Department should maintain a supervision over governmental expenditures, but that actually there was no such supervision.

Officers Almost Immortal.
"When anything goes wrong," he said, "the remedy seems to be to create more offices, and an office once created is an office forever. I know nothing which so nearly approaches immortality as a public office. Like the little brook it runs on forever. We could demolish the greatest army
of the world in a few months, but no
power has been found which can de-mobilize the army of civil employes
in Washington."

The unnecessary expenditures had

Lowden was preceded by Mrs. Dobyns, who, likewise, urged women to go into politics. She said Lowden was a candidate on his own record of achievements as a business Governor of Illinois, and that his supporters were saying nothing derogatory of any other candidate. "We don't have to say he has inherited the mantle of any man who has gone," she said evidently intending to refer both to Major-General Wood and Senator Johnson as followers of Roosevelt.

HOOVER INVITED TO SPEAK AT EUROPEAN RELIEF MEETING HEREJewish Relief Committee and Mayor Send Telegrams Requesting His Presence May 2
Herbert Hoover today was invited by telegram to speak before a mass meeting in the Coliseum on or about May 2 to state to St. Louisans what need now exists in Eastern Europe for a continuation of their wartime contribution to relief funds.
The invitation was sent by Nathan Frank, Louis P. Aloe, Walter L. Fried, Col. Moses Shoenberg, David Sommers and Aaron Waldheim, who form the Executive Committee of the St. Louis Jewish Relief Campaign which will be conducted here among Jews and non-Jews for one week, beginning May 2. Hoover will open a similar campaign of New York Jews next Sunday night, his first public appearance since his announcement that he is a receptive candidate for the Republican nomination for President.

Mayor Kiel also sent a telegram to Hoover urging that he accept the invitation.

RABBI DENIES CARELESSNESS

Says Parents of Child, Who Are Singing Him, Mistaken Facts.

Rabbi Sol Probe, 4256 Page boulevard, against whom a $10,000 damage suit is pending for alleged carelessness in performing the Mosaic operation on the child of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Alper of 4249 W. Evans avenue, says the child was 4 weeks and 5 days old instead of only 8 days, as alleged by the parents. He says he refused to operate when first called because the child was ill, and that nearly four weeks later he operated only after being assured by the parents that a physician had pronounced the child in normal condition.

He says that he has performed similar operations for 32 years without an untoward incident. He contends the child was suffering from a chronic illness which caused its death.

April 1st issue

Price 35 cents

Now on sale

MUCH of the April 1st issue is devoted to the lustrous satin, rare old lace, orange-blossoms and tulle of the spring bride.

But—of course—Vogue realizes that brides aren't the only people who need quantities of charming new things in April. So—

Last time, Vogue showed the bustle. This time, it presents that other new development of Spring 1920—the Egyptian silhouette—sashes down to our knees, curious ornament, a range of desert colors—on the whole, a decided new influence on the mode.

Taffeta frocks by Dryden, too—tight bodiced, full and beruffled of skirt, dotted and flower-sprinkled as to material—just the things for summer.

And besides—in this issue!

There are the new capes, gracefully falling in accordion pleats from the shoulder. New ways of using stitching, plain or intricate, to adorn the spring suit.

Cheruit on the use of silk and chiffon. The economies—as well as the smartness—of taffeta. The value of a skillful use of two materials in a frock rather than one. Negligees in the Egyptian mode—really most effective for the intimate gown. A new fancy in lace—metal threads on net—Paul Maresco is responsible for that.

Then there are evening clothes, country clothes, street clothes—clothes for every whim and weather of spring—and Vogue shows them all!

If you haven't reserved your copy of Vogue call at your newsdealer's today. These spring numbers sell out almost at once!

Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.
This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dripping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal trouble of the ears, is hard of hearing or has head noises should give this prescription a trial.

YOUTH YIELD ON CHECK CHARGE

E. H. Frahm Alleged to Have Forged Brother's Signature.

Elmer H. Frahm, 22 years old, of 2012 S. Second street, arrested in East St. Louis last week pending investigation into several checks he had cashed there, was brought to St. Louis last night on charges of having passed six checks during March. On three of the checks he is said to have forged the signature of his brother, Milton Frahm, and to three others signed his own name.

On March 5, 9 and 11 he is said to have cashed the three checks with his brother's purported signature at the Central National Bank. Each was for $50. Two of the checks with his own name attached were passed March 18 and 20 on Arthur Klechle of the Southwestern Trust Bureau, Century Building, and the third on Edward Ketterer, grocer, 2348 Meard street. A private detective agency employed by the bank caused the prosecutions here. Frahm, police say, admitted cashing the checks and said he spent the money in having a "good time." He is an elevator conductor.

Want Pink Cheeks—Red Lips?

Some unfortunate men and women are prone to wonder why some of their friends are blessed with an abundance of color—pink cheeks and red lips—while theirs are always colorless. The reason for this named condition is—there is not enough red blood corpuscles in the blood—under a microscope the blood is thin and watery. The flesh is flabby, too. Well known physicians assert that the regular administration for several months, of three-grain hypo-nutrient tablets will greatly improve the color, add to the weight, make the cheeks pink and the lips red and in general be very beneficial. For self-administration, obtain from any of the best apothecary shops.

Plans for St. Louis Convention.
CHICAGO, April 9.—Plans for the annual meeting of the American Bar Association to be held in St.
Louis, Aug. 25, 26 and 27, were discussed at yesterday's meeting of the Executive Committee of the organization. It was announced that speakers on the program would include Gov. Gardner of Missouri, H.

L. Carson of Philadelphia, president of the association; Franklin K. Lane,
and former Senator A. J. Beveridge

LAMM APPROVES U. R. PLAN TO BUY NEW CARS

Special Master Favors Purchase of 110 Cars, to Include 10
of New Type.

Fifty trailers, 50 cars of the new type 777 and 10 one-man cars are to be added to the equipment of the United Railways Co. at a cost of $1-400,000, under a plan submitted today by Thomas E. Francis of counsel for the receiver to Special Master
Lamm, who recommended to the Court the issuance of such an order.

Type No. 777 is the car with loading platform at the front and exit
at the side, now being experimented with by the company with a view to saving time in the loading of passengers and receiving their fares.

Arguments were to have been heard today on the request of the company to spend about $2,000,000
in improvements. When the attorneys were assembled, the plan for the new equipment was submitted instead. Francis said it was the result of conferences during the past week, and that it had the approval of the Board of Directors.

The 50 trailers recently were ordered installed by the State Public Service Commission. In addition to providing these, the plan calls for the equipping of 60 of the present cars to haul them. The company estimates the cost of the trailers and
the equipping of the other cars at $425,000. The commission's estimate is $622,000. The 50 new type cars will cost $750,000. The one-man
cars, intended for outlying and county lines, will cost $75,000.

The expenditure contemplated in the Public Service Commission's order was $625,000. The plan submitted today involves an added expenditure of $775,000.

OLD PARTIES TO JOIN FORCES TO FIGHT NONPARTISAN LEAGUE

Republicans and Democrats May Merge on Legislative Candidates
in North Dakota.

FARGO, N. D., April 9.—A special committee of the North Dakota Independent Voters' Association, meeting
here last night with committees of Republicans and Democrats, formulated a plan toward union of forces
to oppose the Non-Partisan League
at the primary election June 30.

It was recommended that Republican and Democratic State conventions be held the same day in the same city and that both parties
merge on candidates for the Legislature. No date for the convention was set but some time early in May was favored. The date and place
will be selected later.

UNIDENTIFIED MAN, 80, DIES

Was Injured by Fall in Coal Chute at City Hospital, March 25.

A man described as 80 years old,
who fell into the basement of the city
hospital at 2:30 a. m., March 25,
through a coal chute, fracturing
his skull, died at the city hospital at 6 p. m., yesterday, without having been able to reveal his identity.

It is supposed that he stopped to rest and toppled into the chute. A letter addressed to Earl Blocker, 4109 Manchester avenue, was found in his pocket. Blocker called at the hospital, identified the letter as one written him by his mother, but said he did not know the bearer. He said he had lost the letter.

The man is described as 5 feet 8 inches tall, 155 pounds weight, gray
hair and eyes, and wore a salt and pepper suit, light shirt and black lace shoes, size 7½. He wore no hat.

This Skin Peeler All The Rage in Society

There is a growing tendency among women of culture and fashion to pay more attention to hygienic means of preserving their charms. The advent of mercolized wax doubtless has been largely responsible for this. This remarkable substance produces complexion so natural in appearance, so magnetically
beautiful, artificial complexions are no longer desired. Instead of "doctoring"
an offensive skin, the skin is peeled off.
The wax peels the skin so gradually, in such fine particles, no discomfort is experienced. The fresher, younger skin beneath, wholly in evidence within a week or two, in lily white, satiny soft and smooth. It's not a patched-over complexion, but a brand-new one. That's why mercolized wax has become such a rage among society folk. The wax is put on nights like cold cream, and washed off mornings. All druggists have it, of course; one ounce will do.

Before Grand Jury.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 9.—The vice crusade in New York, which has gradually broadened into five distinct investigations, assumed substantial proportions yesterday when the regular grand jury returned indictments against Police Inspector

was charged with neglect of duty.
Accompanied by his counsel, W.

taurant proprietor, with three employees, all of whom are charged with keeping a disorderly house.
Gunsen already is under indictment
for bribery and extortion.
The seven indictments make a total of 10.

Prince of Wales Sails for Hawaii.

"BOHEME" FURNISHES AN ARTISTIC SURPRISE

Charming Performance at Odeon
Led by Queena Mario and Giuseppe Agostini.

By RICHARD L. STOKES.
A SIGNAL instance of artistic evolution in the San Carlo Opera Company occurred after the final curtain fell upon Puccini's "La Boheme," last night at the Odeon. Mimi lay dead upon her pallet in the equal attic; grouped about her piteous form languished the five grieving friends. There was prolonged applause, and the curtain reascended.

Few would have been startled had Mimi suddenly experienced the miracle of resurrection, or if her companions, whisking off their sorrowful masks and donning professional grimaces of gratitude, had thronged greedily to the footlights in order to savor every aroma of the rich stage of acclaim. But the marvelous happened; the tableau was held resolutely unbroken. An opera singer, it is well known, loves his curtain calls and obsequies as pussy adores cream. So that one may calculate the potency of the scruples which thus elected to sacrifice personal vainglory to aesthetic propriety. The same modesty, the same strict subordination of individual parade to the commonwealth of the performance throughout, went far towards making this production the artistic surprise that it proved to be. Behind such a manifestation there must be a guiding genius, who can no other than the director, Gattano Merola. He could not have won, however, without the sincere co-operation of the singers.

Singers Give Composer a Chance.
Miss Queena Mario's Mimi, for instance, was the very poetry of delicacy and artlessness. To the portrayal of the tender and guileless seamstress of the Latin Quarter she brought a simplicity so fine and elusive that its exquisiteness might escape a careless observer. The part of Rodolfo offers not a few opportunities for the singer to exploit himself. But this Rodolfo never drew our attention to the fact that under the guise of the Bohemian poet lurked a certain tenor, one Giuseppe Agostini. A similar devotion to the success of the performance as a whole animated the others of the cast. So that the prevailing impression, moreover, was that of the entrancing beauty of Puccini's music, from the first note to the last.

The restraint of the singers, however, could not forever conceal the fact that Agostini, melodious and resonant of voice, romantically fervent in his acting, was winning one of the best successes of his many years of singing in St. Louis; or that Miss Mario was setting a difficult standard for Mimis of the future, in lovely song, simple art, feminine charm and pictorial veracity to the part. This young soprano is, when need arises, a mistress of the soft and ethereally fluting tones; its delicate chime falls upon the ear like a visitation from fairyland.

Series of Melodies.
The familiar melodies of the opera followed in succession: Rodolfo's immortal air, "Que gelida manina," admirably done by Agostini; Mimi's artless story of her life, "Mi chiamano Mimi"; the beautiful love duet between Rodolfo and Mimi, "O soave fanciulla"; Musetta's waltz songs, merrily interpreted by Rosina Zotti in the scene of revelry at the Cafe Momus; the plaintive farewell sung by Rodolfo and Mimi as the snow falls at the city gate; Colline's lamentation over his overcoat, doomed to the pawnshop, which was capably sung by Pietro di Biasi; and the death scene, with Mimi's frail and loving accents dreamily repeating the motive of Rodolfo's song at their first meeting.

Those debonair vagabonds of the Latin Quarter, Colline the philosopher, Marcel the painter and Shau-nard the musician, were acceptably taken by Di Biasi, Mario Valle and Paolo Galazzi. Natale Cervi was diverting in two parts, that of the landlord, Benoit, and that of Musetta's imbecile protector, the state councillor, Alcide.

PALMER SAYS $750,000 KILLED THE PEACE TREATY

"Majority Vote Purchased in Michigan" Defeated League of Nations, Attorney General Asserts.

By the Associated Press.

MACON, Ga., April 9.—Attorney General Palmer speaking here last night in behalf of his candidacy for the presidential nomination, declared that "three quarters of a million dollars killed the peace treaty and the league of nations covenant."

"With the majority vote purchased in Michigan," he said, "Senator Lodge organized the Foreign Relations Committee and refused to report the treaty. If the Democrats had carried Michigan—if the Republican party had spent only a couple of hundred thousand dollars—the Democrats would have organized the Senate and the Foreign Relations Committee would have reported the treaty and it would have been passed. It took months of struggle to get these Democrats to desert the party."

MAN HIT BY TRAIN IDENTIFIED

F. J. Atwell, Former Sailor, Fatally Injured in Jumping Off Car.

A man who died at 8:30 p. m. Wednesday, at the city hospital from injuries suffered when he was struck by a Wabash freight train at 2:30 that afternoon, was identified as Frank J. Atwell of "Y" Ranch, Salome, Ariz., at a coroner's inquest today. The identification was made by Angelo Lee Millano, a miner of Herrin, Ill.

Millano stated that he met Atwell at Union Station Wednesday. Atwell said he had just been discharged from the navy and suggested that they ship their clothes to Salome and "beat" their way to the ranch owned by Atwell's father. The clothes were sent and the men were riding the "blind baggage" of a westbound Wabash passenger train, Millano said, when Atwell jumped off the passenger train and was struck by a freight train, which was eastbound. A verdict of accidental death was returned.

MAN, SEEN WITH WOMAN SLAIN IN ALLEY, SOUGHT

Waitress Left Restaurant With Him Half Hour Before Body Was Found Near Gate of Home.

Search is being made by the police today for a man who was seen with Mrs. Ruth Charlotte Cosma, 27 years old, of 8612 Cass avenue, last night, half an hour before she was found dead near the rear yard gate of her home with a bullet wound in her head.

This man at 8 p. m. called at a restaurant at 1010 Franklin avenue where Mrs. Cosma was a waitress and departed with her when she went off duty a few minutes later.

Mrs. Cosma and her husband, Louis P. Cosma, of 1829 Rutger street, until recently proprietor of a restaurant at 1723 Market street, had been living apart since 1918. After the separation Cosma retained custody of their children, Theodore, 11; Lucille, 7, and Bessie, 4. Mrs. Cosma had been living with her cousin, Mrs. Frances Wheatley, at the Cass avenue address.

Husband and Brother Held. When it was learned that Cosma recently had visited his wife several times and pleaded for a reconciliation he was arrested at his home at 10:30 p. m. His brother, Constantine Cosma, who lived with him, also was arrested. They are held for investigation, though they deny knowledge of the shooting.

The alley in which Mrs. Cosma's body was found, by St. Louis, of 8612 Cass avenue, at 8:30 p. m., runs west from Grand avenue between Cosens avenue and Cass avenue. No weapon was found near the body. A bullet had entered below the left jaw and ranged upward toward the brain. The face was powder-burned.

On a lot at the southwest corner of Grand and Cass avenue, about 50 feet from where the body was found, policemen picked up a long-bladed bread knife which had the initials "V. H." branded on the wooden handle. The knife was new and not stained or rusted. This lot is an entry way to an oil filling station.

Heard Noise Like Shot. Employees at the filling station said they heard a noise like a shot about 8:30 p. m., but paid little attention to it, as they thought it was an automobile back-firing.

Mrs. Cosma was identified through a letter found in her pocket addressed to Ruth Wilson, 8613 Cosens avenue, just south of the point where her body was found. Investigation there showed it was the home of her sister, Mrs. Mathilda Wilson, who said that since Mrs. Cosma's separation from her husband she had sometimes been known as Ruth Wilson.

In Mrs. Cosma's purse were found $8.70 in cash and a group photograph of three men in soldier uniform.

As a waitress, Mrs. Cosma worked from 9 a. m. to noon and from 5 to 8 p. m. Employees at the restaurant described the man who met her when she was through work last night. The police say this description does not fit her husband. Neighbors of Cosma corroborated his assertion that he and his brother, Constantine, did not leave their home after 5 p. m. yesterday.

Cosma Visited Wife. Mrs. Wilson told policemen Cosma visited his wife at the Wilson home Monday night and pleaded for a reconciliation. She said that when Mrs. Cosma refused to be reconciled, her husband said to her: "If I can't have you, nobody else will." She said her sister exclaimed: "Do you mean that you would kill me?" and Cosma replied: "No, I wouldn't stain my hands with you."

Cosma, after his arrest said he had visited his wife several times and pleaded with her to return for the sake of their children, but he denied he had ever threatened her. He said they were married 12 years ago and were happy until last November when there was a sudden change in his wife's demeanor. She became cool toward him, he said, and told him she no longer cared for him. At the time of the separation, he said, she left home telling him she was "going to meet a gentleman from South Bend, Ind." On the occasion of their last meeting Monday night, he said, she pleaded with him to obtain a divorce.

COMEDY AND TRAGEDY IN REPLIES TO 'AD'

Finder of Money Says He Sympathizes With Losers, but None Gave Correct Amount.

A resident of the suburbs found money on the street the other day, and he came to the Post-Dispatch yesterday to tell what happened when he made efforts to discover the loser. The finder of the money has three pairs of spectacles, he says, so that he can always be sure of having one pair to use in hunting the other two when lost. He gives this information to show that he appreciates the habits of the human race in general, but he was not prepared, he says, for the rush which followed the insertion in Monday's Post-Dispatch of the following advertisement: MONEY—Found: lower state what kind, when and where lost.

With 27 answers the first day, they are still coming. He says that when he learns how to do a business of $10,000 a year net, all he will have to do to be kept busy by his morning mail is to learn how to write two-line ads for the Post-Dispatch, appealing to habits he shares with the human race.

Some of Letters Received.
He says, too, that he sympathizes with the tragedy as well as with the comedy in these habits of his own, as he finds them in others. Here is one of the letters he gives the Post-Dispatch from the top of the heap, with the proviso that none of the writers is to be identified:

"Dear Sir: Reading your ad in today's P-D, I wish to state that I lost my pocketbook Monday, 8th, which contained one five, one two and one one-dollar bill and a lower set of teeth. I need the money badly, since it is all I have."
That was from a woman, but he found no dividing line of sex. The following illustrates:

"Dear Friend: In answer to your ad in the found column, am a hard-working young man, and it was my savings which I took out of my drawer Friday night in a hurry to buy shoes, of which I took the whole roll of bills. I think it consisted of three twenties and one (1) ten-dollar bill and probably a five or three, which I am not sure—all in a roll of paper money. Got on a University car at Walton, 510 block; got off at Sarah, and then took another car at Sarah and rode to Grand, and got off to go to show; reached for money to go into the show and the roll of bills was gone. I had some small change with me—that was all. I will give reward to the honest person. I worked hard to save it since Jan. 15, and intended to take it to bank Monday. I just started to save since coming home from overseas and live with a widow-mother."

Another pocketbook which was lost contained $45, a painter's union card and a receipt for an automobile license. In contrast was one answer written in flawless English which stated that the writer "could ill afford to lose that amount ($11.50), almost a week's salary."

Three persons who answered the advertisement had lost unopened pay envelopes. One of these contained $28.70, and was lost by a woman between her home and a vaudeville theater. A man lost $20 on his way to church Easter morning.

One lost $50 Ten Weeks Ago.
One woman had lost $50 in a motion picture theater 10 weeks ago, and a man lost $18 in a large downtown department store three weeks ago. Both wondered "if by any chance the money found could be what they lost. Another woman expressed the hope that "the money which you found was mine, and that it was found by an honest person."

A man whose salary is $23 a week and who lost $44 does not say whether the money he lost belonged to somebody else, but he does say that "not only does the loss of the money hurt me, but my character has been reflected upon very badly."

One man's pocketbook contained $33 and a Chinese laundry ticket, and another contained $20 and a single woman's address. Most of the writers offer rewards. A man who says he lost $32 tells the finder to keep half and return the rest. A woman who lost $14 offers $4 reward. An unmarried woman lost $75 on a Jefferson car Monday, she writes. One reply says:

"Dear Mrs. or Mr.—It was April 5, about 10 minutes after nine, when I lost a valuable letter on the Bellefontaine car. The car was northbound. It was addressed to Los Angeles, Cal. It had $5 in it."

Of the 27 replies, not one contained the correct amount or description. The money found, in fact, consisted of a $10 bill, and was found lying loose upon the street.

COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY DEAN ADDRESSES ILLINOIS TEACHERS

One-Fourth of the Teachers Have Left Profession for Higher Salaries, He Says.

Dr. George D. Strayer, dean of the teachers' college, Columbia University, last night in the East St. Louis High School auditorium addressed delegates of the Southwest Division, Illinois Teachers' Association, on "The Crisis in American Education," deploring that educators of superior qualities are not paid sufficient salaries to keep them in educational work.

He said that during the last year one-fourth of the teachers in the United States resigned to accept more lucrative positions. This loss will reflect upon the schools as a step backward, he said, for the supply of teachers under normal conditions barely keeps pace with the demands for higher education.

He said that a teacher receiving $1200 a year receives a "substantance wage," meaning that it is barely sufficient to permit the teacher to live, which does not make for enthusiasm. Add $200 to the amount, he said, and a teacher is enabled to have economic independence, that is, they are enabled to purchase life insurance, and save a small sum for care during illness, and enjoy some recreation. A larger sum, he said, would permit the teachers to have a "cultured salary," a sum adequate to purchase books and other advantages essential to an instructor.

Navy Ban on "Salt Horse."
By the Associated Press.
BOSTON, April 9.—Salt pork, or "salt horse," one of a number of disparaging names applied to it for many generations, will no longer have a place on the navy bill of fare, according to a Department order received here. The order directs that no further purchases of pork be made and that bacon and ham be substituted for it.

Man Killed Was an Engineer.
Terminal Lodge, No. 472, of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, has requested the Post-Dispatch to state that H. J. Weindorf, who was shot and killed in Madison, Ill., while stealing from freight cars, was an engineer, and not a switchman, as stated by the police on April 2.

The Little Gray Book

In which is set forth the Odd Adventure of Mr. Van Clarence Smith, the Masked Intruder, and the Ambassador's Memoirs...

"SHOW me the way there," the young man declared hopefully, "and I'll get it. But, say—you'll excuse my mentioning it, Sir Julian—what about the secret service? Isn't this rather a job for them?"

"There isn't such an institution," Sir Julian replied contemptuously. "The village policeman who patrols the road outside the park, would be as useful in a case like this as the cleverest man who ever worked for what they call the English secret service. Their officials are all hidebound, prejudiced, unimaginative. Frankly, my young friend, if I were to go to any one of our politicians, to any one of our diplomatists, to the chief of our police, and tell them today what I know to be the truth—that Prince Terloff was intriguing to drag this country into war with Germany—they would look upon me as a lunatic. Furthermore, supposing I were able to convince them that there was the slightest chance of this, and to point out that this volume of memoirs, put into the right hands, would probably save the country, it is my honest belief that they could do nothing against the person or the belongings of an Ambassador. In plain words, our secret service has about as much initiative when it is up against a big proposition as the old lady who opens my lodge gates."

"You are saying things!" the young man murmured. "All those stories, then—but, gee! That don't matter! Where do I spring in here, Sir Julian?"

"Tonight," his employer announced, "or rather tomorrow morning, there will be a burglary here."

"I follow."

"Property will be stolen in other directions, but the end rooms of the second floor of this wing will also be entered, and the apartments of the Prince ransacked."

"Am I the burglar?"

"You are not. I am not asking you to play the part of an ordinary criminal. His role is already filled. I want you to act where finesse is required. You will be the person who will hear the burglar, who will hasten to the scene and struggle with him. The burglar will be there for jewelry and money and anything he can get hold of. You will play first walking gentleman hero, but all you will really have to do is to look for a small gray, morocco-bound volume in the cabinet which will already be broken open with a jimmy. Secure me that volume, my young friend, and you will have earned your year's salary. You will also incidentally have averted a European war."

"I'm all on to it," the young man declared. "What time does the curtain ring up?"

"It will happen at 3 o'clock precisely. Set your watch by mine and be punctual to the second, for although you will say afterwards that you were awakened by the sounds there will, we hope, be no disturbance at all. The Prince's rooms are the three at the end of your corridor. They are all en suite, but the doors of the two bedrooms will be locked, so that ingress to them is only possible through the sitting room, which will be the scene of the burglary. You must enter that sitting room at precisely 3 o'clock. If all has gone well the Prince will be gagged and bound and locked in his bedroom beyond. The burglar will know you by sight and will assist you in the search. As soon as you have the book, help him to escape, wait as long as you safely can, conceal the book in your room, and then give the alarm. If the burglar is caught—well, he will turn out to be one of my old servants, and I shall get him off with as light a sentence as possible.

"I'll bring you that book, sir, if it's anywhere in the room," the young man promised.

"It is a very handsome volume," Sir Julian concluded, "bound in gray, shiny morocco, and with a coronet and coat of arms on the outside cover. The Prince takes the greatest possible care of it, but he permitted me a glimpse of it the other day. It is filled with very small writing in his own hand, and the matter has become urgent because I know that he means to send it to messenger, within the course of the next week or so, to Germany."

The inner gong sounded. Sir Julian took his young companion's arm and they strolled out into the hall. The butler was passing around a tray of cocktails.

"I appreciate confidence," Sir Julian declared, "and I believe in you. We will drink to the success of your first exploit on my account."

Lady Felicia, on her way to the drawing room, caught sight of them and came across.

"A toast!" she exclaimed. "Can't I join it?"

She took a glass from the tray. The three were alone for a moment.

"We are drinking," Sir Julian confided, in a low tone, "to the success of a little adventure which Mr. Van Clarence Smith is undertaking to-night."

Felicia smiled as she raised her glass.

"I told you, Jim," she murmured, "that your time was coming."

The Ancient Greek Drama Offers You Thrills and Relief From the Movies

Miss Charity Grace Points Out the Way to Fame and Popularity Over a Somewhat Ancient Road.

By MARGUERITE MARTIN.

I present-day melodrama too slow for you? Do the movie films possess too few thrills? Does the chorus of the musical show rather pall upon you because it doesn't mean anything? Does the realism of the problem play fail to bare primitive emotions as nakedly as you'd like? Do the purely artistic productions offend you by a lack of restraint? Are you generally alert and tired and bored with the name-dramatists of what you see on the stage? And would you, who have stage aspirations, seek a new field of dramatic expression in which there is little competition and in which you are likely to become a poet? Then turn you to the ancient Greek drama! Be gripped and thrilled and surprised. Find all you have longed for and missed upon the modern stage.

At any rate, this is the advice of Miss Charity Grace, teacher of Latin at Yeatman High School.

"Of course, I haven't seen all the modern dramas, nor all the movie thrillers, nor all that is new and stimulating in dramatic production. But I've seen a good many modern stage offerings, and, believe me, I have found nothing which improves upon the old Greek tragedy in swift movement, in gripping, thrilling situations, in tremendous climaxes, in artistic restraint, in imagery nor in ingenious relation of the chorus to the rest of the play. Nor have moderns discovered any new plots, any new situations or new arrangements or dramatic climaxes. I am sure we moderns do not equal them in diction, and not always in dialogue. Their lines were always in poetic meter."

"And as for the element of newness and freshness," she added, "although these plays have been in existence since quite some time before the Christian era, have they not become so generally neglected as to have now the element of discovery to many persons?"

Even if one's knowledge of the Greek drama has dwindled to a single familiar phrase, "as somber as a Greek tragedy," one is not so much to be blamed, Miss Grace assured me, since the public schools of this city have all but dropped the study of Greek language and literature, there being now but one class, that at Central High.

But to return to the Greek tragedy as a stimulant to faded dramatic interests, Miss Grace said:

"Take the Electra of Sophocles, we have here the wife of Clytemnestra, who has proved faithless, marrying Aegisthus while her husband (Agamemnon) is away serving the country in war. We have the son, Orestes, bound by a tradition which is no less a code of honor in this day, to avenge his father; and the daughter, Electra, as the watchful, feminine spur to conscience as well as protector to her little brother. We have this situation established in the first scene when we plunge at once into action."

"Enter Orestes after many years' absence, having been spirited away when a child by a faithful tutor to prepare him for the great task that was to be his when he became a man. He arrives in disguise. There is, in fact, a description of a chariot race in which Orestes is reported to have been killed, a description which in many words is as full of thrills as the most exciting movie chase. He is as much taken in by Orestes' disguise as is Electra, whose obsession for vengeance accumulating during these years is now crowned with a double grief at her brother's supposed death.

"Presently, however, we recognize the youthful avenger and behold that the murderers of his father are to be avenged right here upon the same spot where the father years ago met his cruel fate. We are wrought up to a terrible state of suspense. It is all accomplished. We sympathize with the relief to Electra's pent-up misery, enjoy her triumph and feel like joining the chorus in its chant, 'Doom like this must ever fall, on all who transgress the law!' Yet there has been no shock to our finer sensibilities. There has been no killing on the stage.

"And while modern civilization may think it has advanced in its idea that murder is not to be tolerated even when justified—so did these ancients, Orestes must expiate his crime against nature, the killing of his mother and we behold him pursued by furies, appealing to the Torians, sacrificing, Iphigenia—sorely tried, but at last triumphant over his own soul.

"Plots," she observed, "were scarce in those days, since no less than three of the great dramatists, Euripides, Aeschylus and Sophocles, made use of this same story. But plots are just as scarce now. Certainly the eternal triangle and other devices easily recognized in the construction of this play still are in vogue. Shakespeare did not discover any situations the Greeks did not make use of, and repeated himself just as frequently, adages to the contrary, notwithstanding.

"Moreover, the treatment of the same story by the three Greek dramatists was each as characteristic and different, one from the other, as Bernard Shaw, Ibsen and Pinero treating the same theme, are different."

Miss Grace is undertaking now to give recitals of the Greek tragedies and is interested in the Classical Club recently formed with 125 members, many of whom are teachers, who divert themselves every other Saturday afternoon with the study of classic literature.

So far as she knows she has but one competitor in the field devoting herself to this specialty, Miss Dorothy Spinney of Stratford, England, who has been seen in St. Louis. In testimony of her belief that the Greek drama may become to a degree popular, Miss Grace offers the fact that when "Trojan Women" in the original Greek was performed at Washington University some years ago, it played in crowded houses and many came from out of town to witness it.

Asked what special preparation she is giving to this avocation, she replied, "None. I do not need to memorize the lines. I have just absorbed them while they have been absorbing me. Greek drama needs no stage setting, no great elocutionary powers. The lines themselves are so vigorous, they stand alone without theatrical 'clap-trap.'"

And if you suspect that Miss Charity Grace, with her quaint name, is old-fashioned or out of touch with present-day thought and movement, you are mistaken. She is a very live, keen participant in modern affairs. She has moved along with that majority of the school faculty which is now considering the radical departure of affiliation with the Central Trades and Labor Union. She believes thoroughly in organized industry, she said to me, although she preferred to leave all statements upon the present crisis to the Publicity Committee.

IS THIS YOUR TYPE?

By MARIE LA ROQUE.

Is Your Nose Aquiline?

"SNUBS and Romans are plentiful enough," says Miss Greevy in Dickens' "Nicholas Nickolby," "and there are flats of all sorts and sizes, but perfect aquilines, I am sorry to say, are scarce, and we generally use them for uniforms and public characters."

It has often been observed that a large number of famous men and women have had aquiline noses and this is doubtless because, as students of physiognomy tell us, the aquiline nose betokens a good intellect, with a more than ordinary force of purpose. Charlemagne, they say, had an aquiline nose, and so did Christopher Columbus. Likewise did Cromwell, the only man not of royal blood who ever ruled in England. Farragut, the great American commander, was of this type.

Among writers there were George Eliot and George Sands, both of whom, it must be admitted, had noses a little too beaklike to be "perfect aquilines." Sarah Siddons, regarded as the greatest tragic actress England has ever produced, was of the aquiline type, and our own Margaret Anglin, who is usually regarded as the best of our emotional actresses, has a nose that shows really beautiful aquiline proportions.

The girl who has an aquiline nose may have waited in vain for an American writer of modern novels or short stories to portray a fair heroine possessing this type of nose. Rather small, straight or slightly upturned noses seem to be more in demand nowadays. Still the nose that is like an eagle's—for aquiline means, of course, eagle-like—has had its admirers in literature.

Edgar Allan Poe seems to have regarded a well-formed aquiline nose as more beautiful even than a Greek nose. When he describes Ligia, who was his ideal of beauty as well as of intellect, he says: "Nowhere but in the graceful medallions of the Hebrews have I beheld a similar perfection—the same scarcely perceptible tendency to the aquiline, the same harmoniously curved nostrils speaking the free spirit."

And Balzac in describing his Madame de la Chanterie—one of the most famous of all his women characters—tells us that she had "a rather sweet face, with a soft, coldly colored complexion, an aquiline nose, a benign brow, hazel eyes and a double chin, the whole framed in curls of silver hair."

Russian novelists show a predilection for heroines with aquiline noses. For instance, there is Turgenev's Marianna in "Virgin Soil," who, he says, "had a round face, a large aquiline nose, big bright eyes, fine eyebrows and thin lips." She was regarded by the other characters—save, of course, by her rival—as being more than ordinarily good looking.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Jimmy Skunk Gets a Shock.

When all is said and all is done
You often lose just when you're won.

I F ever there was a surprised Skunk that one was Jimmy Skunk, when Mrs. Skunk informed him that he could have their old house, while she would take the house Johnny and Polly Chuck had left when they moved from the far corner of the Old Orchard down on the Green Meadows. It gave Jimmy a shock. You see he had planned all along that he and Mrs. Skunk would live in that old house of Johnny Chuck's. Jimmy thought he couldn't have heard quite right.

"What do you mean by saying that I can have the old house?" he demanded.

"Just that and nothing more," replied Mrs. Skunk. "You can live down there or anywhere else you please, except here. This is my house now."

Such a funny look as there was on Jimmy Skunk's face! Mrs. Skunk had to turn her head to hide a smile. "But why can't I live here, too?" demanded Jimmy. "Do you mean to tell me that you want to get rid of me?"

Mrs. Skunk nodded. "Something like that," said she. "I can't be bothered with you around for a while, anyway. Now take my advice and go back to your old house."

Mrs. Skunk sat in the doorway and watched him out of sight.

Isn't any reason why we can't do the same thing here?"

"Oh, yes there is," replied Mrs. Skunk.

"What?" demanded Jimmy.

"You'll find that out by and by," replied Mrs. Skunk. "Now, if you don't want trouble, just trot along and leave me alone. And let me give you one more bit of advice, Jimmy: Keep away from here from now on. I don't want any trouble

As a Woman Thinketh

By Helen Rowland.

What Every Woman Would Like to Know.

EVERY woman would like to know:

Why every man has to have a blonde in his life!

Why a man's tastes regarding "woman," and his tastes in "women," are so different.

Why a man always carols and trills at his bath!

Why a man loves himself better in a red necktie than in any other kind.

Why a woman has to go through 17 different kinds of torture in order to attain that nice, clean, kissable effect that a man has after a shave.

How a man can tell a woman all about science, engineering, dynamics, perpetual motion and the modus operandi of an airplane—and yet, can't make his "flivver" go when it gets temperamental.

How a man CAN know so much about politics as he says he does—and then let them put prohibition over on him.

Why all husbands in the comic strips are so "abused!"

Why a man who falls in love with a girl's pretty foot and ankle is always shocked to discover that she has a brain at the other end.

Why a man will rack his brain to make small talk with a woman, when all he need do is to keep on saying "How pretty you look! How pretty you look!"

Why there is so little difference between the savage and the civilized man—before breakfast.

Why a man always begins to find fault with the domestic regime, the moment you succeed in getting a servant in the house.

Why Darwin said men sprang from monkeys, when they appear merely to have CREPT away!

Why a man always beams as proudly when you mention his sins as though you had presented him with a bouquet or a Carnegie medal.

How a man can tell the front from the back of his hat.

Why a man always listens to his wife's conversation with that "I-am-ready-to-hear-with-you" expression.

Why Solomon was the only man who ever appreciated "woman's infinite variety."

Why men are so nice—and I captivate!

SPRING MODES

One piece dresses have bouffant hly draperies.

Novelty weaves in tricolettes are very popular.

Hemlock green is one of the spring shades.

The newest jackets show bolero and Eton lines.

Aviating striped silk will be used for sports hats.

Long gloves will be worn with short sleeves.

Some of the prettiest spring coat-ings are two-toned.

The bodices of evening gowns are straight girdles.

LUNCHEON SOUP

IN the morning when you are preparing your celery for dinner at night, set aside the leaves, the outside stalks which are not palatable and the stub or root. Put these in a covered dish, add cold water to cover, a small piece of onion and a sprig of parsley. Let this simmer until luncheon time. Then strain the liquid, add a pint of hot milk, some butter and celery salt and a little flour to thicken. Served hot with crackers. This makes a nourishing and palatable luncheon.
